ARREST OF A "SCION" UTTERED WORTHLESS CHECKS. (BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

PITTSBURGH, July 9.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) C. D. Willey of Morgantown, W. Va., a scion of one of the most famous families in West Virginia, a son of Senator Willey, and prominent in society circles in this city, Cincinnati, Washington and New York, was arrested at Morgantown, yesterday, and brought to this city on a charge of defrauding the hotel-keepers of Pittsburgh, and passing worthless checks. His arrest created a sensation.

Several weeks ago, young Willey came to Pittsburgh from Morgantown and cut a wide swath. He stopped at several leading hotels, paying his bills with checks. He drank heavily, and spent money in lavish entertainment. He had no difficulty in having the checks cashed. When they began to come back, however, all were marked "no funds." An effort was made to have the matter adjusted without publicity, but the hotel people insisted on pushing the charges.

WOULD-BE LYNCHERS. RECOGNIZED BY PRISONERS.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) ST. LOUIS, July 9.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) A mob of about 50 men in the City Jail, the Spanish brothers, Bill and Arthur, whom the mob unsuccessfully tried to take from Iron county jail at Ironton, yesterday, and lynch, told the story of the attack of the mob and how they beat him by winding bed slats taken from their beds in the cell. They also gave the names of fifteen persons whom they recognized with the mob. Two are leading merchants of Ironton and the others were from Marquette Creek, twelve miles south of Ironton.

The statement was forwarded to Gov. Folk this evening, and a copy sent to Ironton with instructions to arrest the accused. The Spanish brothers were seriously injured than was at first reported. They were brought here on coats, being unable to sit up, and while it is believed they will recover from their wounds, yet the jail physician says their condition is serious.

CRIMINAL BRIEFS. JUDGE SAVES PRISONER.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) NEW ORLEANS, July 9.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) To prevent Spencer Roy, a negro, from being lynched, Judge Gaudet, in the Twenty-ninth Judicial Court of Jefferson, at Gretna yesterday, instructed Sheriff Marrero that he be taken out of the parish. On complaint of Miss Irene Bourlet, an eighteen-year-old girl, Roy had been arrested on a criminal charge. When the testimony was heard the charge was not established, but the evidence showed that Roy had grossly insulted the young woman, and residents of Jefferson parish were thoroughly aroused.

MRS. SCHMIDLAP'S WRATH. KILLS SECOND HUSBAND.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) DENVER, July 9.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) William M. Schmidlap, a well-known Denver man, was shot and instantly killed in room 22 of the Clarendon rooming-house by his wife, shortly before 2 o'clock this morning. The shooting followed a word dispute. At the Police Station the woman stated that Schmidlap first snatched the gun at her. Schmidlap had been rooming at the Clarendon for several months, though he formerly resided with his brother, Caleb Schmidlap, at No. 1123 Clayton avenue. Mrs. Schmidlap had been living in Los Angeles a year and came here Wednesday, intent on revenge, because he deserted her after agreeing to go to her in Los Angeles. It is said the woman's husband was named Tarkiel. He was a Pinkerton detective attached to the Los Angeles office. He met her at Tucson, Ariz. She subsequently divorced him.

PURSUED BY HIS ENEMIES.

Corners of Earth.

Drifts to Los Angeles and is Harried from City.

Relentless Bureaucracy.

Pursued by a Nemesis more relentless than ever traced a thread of faded black across the career of a nobleman of business, Carl Varka, a Russian of noble ancestry, was yesterday forced to flee from Los Angeles and again take up a pitiful wanderer's life without rest or hope, in a distant yearning to at last reach a goal of safety, where his presence will not be known.

Varka has been but a little while in Los Angeles; but in the United States, he has spent nearly two years. He once lived upon the borders of Poland, and while never associating with riotous or socialistic elements—according to his own account—accused the dispensation of two high officials, who pulled secret wires of power with the Russian bureaucracy.

Varka and his family had title to certain valuable Polish estates, and the friends of Varka still hold these lands. More than this, he was the possessor of certain patents, which his friends are now endeavoring to wrest from him.

Three years ago Varka left Poland and went to Paris. My his familiarity with the English language he easily found a place in the English section, where he was employed for several months, under the name of Heinrich Reibom, as a secretary and interpreter.

He fled Poland because he was tortured in mind and almost beaten, and he knew nothing of the fate of his tormentors desired his life.

El Verde Grape Juice

There are a good many brands of grape juice put up, but among them all there is not one so absolutely pure and with such a perfect natural grape flavor as the El Verde. It is put up by Louise Cary Smith at Pomona, and most of the work is done personally—nothing is left to be done carelessly by careless help. Drink El Verde Grape Juice as a refreshing beverage and as a tonic—it's both. If you're an invalid in the family, nothing will build him up so quickly as El Verde Grape Juice. 35c a pint.

SEARCHLIGHT'S DEVELOPMENT.

Wild-eyed Boom, but a Steady Growth.

The Cyrus Noble Sold for a Cigar.

The Company in Sonora Pays Big Dividend.

The company continues daily its development, steadily growth. No boom has been inflicted upon the district, although there are those who would create one from time to time.

B. BUSINESS IS BIG.
"Searchlight is about to have a bank to be known as the Searchlight Bank and Trust Company, with Dr. Homer A. Hanson and George H. McClintock at its head. The cashier is from Omaha and had just arrived when I left. It will open as soon as its furniture is received."

There are many openings for business. If Los Angeles will make the proper effort, and get in it can get every dollar's worth of it. A general merchandise store could do well. At present carpenters get $4.50 a day, and the blacksmiths are kept so busy that you have to spread several days ahead if you want to get your horse shod."

LA BUFA'S BIG DIVIDEND.
The La Bufa Mining Company of this city, operating at La Bufa, Sonora, has just declared a dividend of 5 per cent, payable on July 31 to stockholders of record on July 15. The total sum to be distributed amounts to over $80,000, a very large part of which will go to stockholders in Los Angeles.

The company continues daily its development, steadily growth. No boom has been inflicted upon the district, although there are those who would create one from time to time.

A shaft of 300 feet

is being sunk, and the

yet its breadth in places is fully three hundred feet. Far northward, along the opposite verge of the chasm, thirteen miles away, the tremendous rampart walls are gleaming white with snow. No sound breaks the awful silence except the twitter of the birds or the sigh of the wind in the pines and live oaks that fringe the terrible cleft—as of a shattered universe, all chaos and horror.

As I gazed through ever-clearing and ever-changing vistas, over this scene of unparalleled magnificence, it seemed to me that I was looking on the ruins of imperial cities, the gigantic remnants of a strange, glorious prehistoric civilization, long since dead and gone; on mosques and minarets; palaces, with spire pinnacles and futed columns; vast terraces and colonnades; stately avenues, amid crumbling mansions; boundless amphitheaters; and the frowning battlements of many a rugged fortress, set on inaccessible heights, above many a yawning precipice and grim and fatal cavern of death. The spectacle is sublime, but also it is terrible. Nowhere have I felt so deeply the sense of human nothingness in the presence of physical nature. As I stood there, at the dizzy edge of the vast cliff, an eagle rose from the vale, and with motionless wings his triumphant flight, upward and upward, till he seemed to vanish into heaven.

Many pages have been written about the mysterious Colorado River and the wondrous gorge through which it makes its way. The river is 2000 miles in length, rising in Utah and flowing in a capricious course, but chiefly south and west, till it empties into the Gulf of California. In Mexico, thirty-six years ago Maj. Powell explored it—sailing from Green River City, in Utah, to the mouth of the Rio Virgin, a distance of about 1000 miles—and wrote his splendid journal of an expedition from which even the courage of Caesar might have shrunk; for, in those days, it was believed that the earth's surface, disappearing in measureless caverns, and among that stupendous cataracts, like that of Niagara, were common incidents of its course. "Adventurous he who, in the face of the unknown, sailed the sea, but how much more daring the intrepid soldier who defied the vague, nameless perils of this grim and grisly world, rushing through frightful deserts, among inaccessible mountains and past great forests, the dangerous abode of savage beasts and still more savage men! The channel of the Colorado, as dimly seen from the verge of the precipice at El Tovar, is five miles distant and 6000 feet below. As Powell, drifting on that desolate river, looked upward from his barge, he may well have thought that the Styx of old religion was no fancy and Chiron no myth. Complete familiarity with the Grand Cañon of Arizona might, perhaps, be acquired in the course of a residence of many years in its immediate neighborhood; a glimpse of it is all that can be obtained by the casual visitor. But even a glimpse of it thrills the imagination and leaves a remembrance that nothing in time can efface. Every facility is provided for making, at least, a general acquaintance with its beauties. Drives are arranged to various points upon the verge of it, from which superb views can be obtained, suggestive, if not completely illuminative, of its extent and variety, and expeditions into it are of daily occurrence. Horses and burros are furnished, and each party of adventurers is led by an experienced guide. It was pleasant to watch the gathering of the morning cavalcade; to see the docile, patient steeds; the bright faces and picturesque garments of the riders, some of them ladies and children; and to hear the happy laughter as the equestrian train trooped away upon a track of checkered sunlight and shadow, beneath the fragrant, life-giving, troubles-scorers for all, but there are soothing and comforting influences in scenes of nature; and it is ever good to look upon the happiness of others, and to wish that it may never cease.

ARE WE HYPNOTIZED?
Dr. Tyndall Declares Not One Person in Million is Free from Hypnotic Spell.

Existing conditions, as viewed from the platform of modern psychology was the subject touched upon by Dr. Alexander J. McVoy-Tyndall at Blanchard Hall last evening and he declared that 99 per cent. of humanity move in a hypnotic trance. "Not one person in a million is free from the hypnotic spell cast by material conditions," said the speaker. "Most people perform every act of their lives merely because it is the custom, or because they are told to do it. It is the mission of psychic science to make people free, to teach people to be individuals and not automata; to get a fuller and deeper realization of the joy of living, the unshakable integrity of the universe, and the kinship of the individual with all life." Next Sunday evening Dr. Tyndall will speak on "John D. Rockefeller, the Twentieth Century Savior."

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.)
BAKERSFIELD, July 9.—Word comes from Danville, Ill., that William Parkinson, formerly of Randburg, is dead.

Parkinson, familiarly known as "Borax Bill," was a pioneer of the Mojave desert and for many years was in the employ of John Searles in the borax works near the point of the state range in San Bernardino county. Searles and Parkinson spent many days together prospecting the sun-baked sands of the desert, and there are few points in that bleak, waterless country that they had not visited. Several years ago Mr. Searles died and since his death the heirs of the estate have sold the borax works, which was the foundation of their immense fortune, to the combine. The plant was shut down by the new owners, but Parkinson was retained as keeper up to a year and a half ago, when he went to St. Louis, and during the expedition there was seen daily driving the famous twenty-mule team about the grounds as an exhibition of the industry in the early days.

During his early life Parkinson was a locomotive engineer and is well known to all the old-time railroad men of the State. He was forced to give up the road on account of an accident to his eyes. His wife died a few years ago and he leaves two children, who are being cared for in an orphan's home established by Mrs. Smith, wife of the "Borax King."

ARTICLE VIII.

INVALUABLE PHOTOGRAPH.
The photograph from which the accompanying group-picture was made I value as one of the choice fruits of this investigation. Its procurement was a costly affair, and would make a good story in itself, which I cannot tell. The photograph was taken just prior to the breaking of the storm, and as yet may wash Reed Smoot from the ooze of deep depravity, and drown him in the deep waters of political oblivion. When the women of the United States, in the name of sentiment from the heavens and made the lightning of Senatorial inquiry, strike the apostle of the head of Smoot, and the wave of public indignation rose and beat upon the House of Mormon, President Joseph Smith, in the name of private thunder and commanded the photograph into hiding; it was a vain effort, for now we have an open line of shameless immorality, but we be unto the Aaronite who should

Mr. Smith: Not at all. I should like to draw a distinction between unlawful polygamy and polygamy. There is a law prohibiting polygamy, plural marriages.

Hoar: You mean now a law of the State of Utah?

Mr. Smith: I mean the law of the State of Utah. This is the constitution of the State. It is required by the Enabling Act. That law, gentlemen, has been completely nullified by the knowledge kept by the Church; and there never has been a plural marriage by the command of the Church without the approval of the Church since the manifesto. [?] The law of unlawful cohabitation is in the law, but it relates to the cohabitation of a man with more than one wife. That is the law which I have promised to refer in reference to discharging myself and degrading my family by turning them off and ceasing to acknowledge them as my family. I have nothing to do with the law in relation to plural marriages. That I have not broken.

Senator Beveridge: He stated, "I was very miserably, but not how well advertised, how offensive, how destructive it has been to his people; how completely it has ruined them."

Senator Beveridge: I understood the witness to say that he had children born to him since that time.

Mr. Taylor: Yes, sir.

Senator Beveridge: That has already been stated.

Mr. Taylor: And But it makes a great difference whether it is two or twenty-two.

The Chairman: Mr. Smith, I wish to ask you a question: preliminarily, I understood you, in response to a question of counsel, to state that you married the first wife at such a time and the second wife at such a time both before 1897?

Mr. Smith: Yes, sir.

The Chairman: The last wife, I mean?

Mr. Smith: Yes, sir.

The Chairman: How many?

Mr. Smith: There were three besides the first.

fore, the father and mother of Jesus, according to the flesh, must have been associated together in the capacity of husband and wife. If, therefore, Mary must have been, for the time being, the lawful wife of God the Father: if the text of the Gospel which says that it would be blasphemous to the highest degree to say that He overshadowed her or begot the Savior unlawfully: if [speaking of Mary and Martha and Mary Magdalene] and associated with them much, and that He came to them, least of all, of first showing Himself to Himself: if His chosen witnesses, the apostles, He appeared first to those women, and then to the apostles: if, therefore, Mary Magdalene. Now it would be very natural for a husband in the resurrection to be first shown to his dear wife, and afterward show Himself to His brother friends. If all these facts of Jesus were written, we need not wonder that those who believed in Him were His wives.

It might be more impolite than incorrect to say that those who believed in Him were His wives.

his time there, and some of his time he spent at his home in the Northwest his legal wife. Then came the Smoot investigation, and word went out that his home was being searched for polyns who were "living their religion" to seek cover. Isaac Smith moved Lizzie Fuhrman over to Mine Creek, a small town in the north, and she is understood to be in semibiding there now. He divides his time between the two towns.

Has the Mormon church taken Isaac Smith in hand? By no means. He is a member of the church, the president of the Cache Valley Stake, and a member of the government which "is superior to the government of the United States."

It is a possibility that the old Boyle Heights on the corner of First and Chicago streets will be demolished by the city.

The fact that the city has decided to demolish the Boyle Heights is a great relief to the people of the city.

ST. JOSEPH'S NEW SCHOOL.

CORNER-STONE LAID WITH RITES OF THE CHURCH.

Children in Procession With Priests and Choral Society Sing Hymns. Address by Bishop Conaty—Many Catholics in Attendance on the Ceremonies.

Hundreds of people were attracted to St. Joseph's Church yesterday afternoon for the ceremony of laying the corner-stone for the new St. Joseph's School. Many of the parishes of the city were represented and there were present numerous priests from the city and vicinity, and members of the various Catholic sisterhoods laboring in Los Angeles.

The ceremonies began with a procession from the Franciscan Monastery on Twelfth street to the school site on Los Angeles street, just south of St. Joseph's Church. The procession was headed by the members of the St. Raphael's Society, and the choir of the church.

The children formed in line on either side of the walk, and between them passed the procession of twenty altar boys, priests, and the bishop, attended by Mr. P. Harnett, V. G., and Rev. Father O'Keefe, O.F.M.

The choral society marched, singing hymns, and the entire procession made the rounds of the interior walls of the building, and then gathered at the southwest corner, where the corner-stone was laid. Bishop Conaty used a beautiful silver trowel, and within a block of carved granite was placed a box containing church and local publications, coins and other mementoes.

The full ritualistic service of the church was used, and at its close Bishop Conaty spoke on "Christian Education." "It is sometimes asked why we build these schools," said Bishop Conaty. "The only answer is that while the secular schools are doing a magnificent work along their own lines, they are not doing all that we would have done for our children in order that their education may be full and complete. Therefore we make these sacrifices to establish these schools."

"This building stands for both the intellectual and spiritual development of the children—the Christian education for which the Christian parents must feel it their duty to provide."

"This is an age of education, an age of the schoolhouse and the school-supply and the lawns and gardens. We would give our children the fullest education, the greatest opportunity to grasp this knowledge, and in this we would include instruction in the faith of our most holy religion. Above all things we want our children to be Christian men and women. Daily, step by step, with the absorption of other knowledge, we would have them receive instruction in religion, would have their characters permeated and filled with the Spirit of God."

"Morality is necessary to our daily and our public life, a morality that will stand the test of right and wrong; and thus must have as its background true religion, a religion which tells man his duty to his fellow-man and his God."

"After all, what is education but the training for life and the fulfillment in the highest manner of life's duties and the destinies which are provided for the individual? Christian education gives men and women a strength of character which compels them to do their duty to their fellow-men, and this school is but a link in the great chain of Christian education, reaching down from the work of Mary Magdalene, and continuing until the last Mary has fulfilled her duties. This school is to be the home of religion and the home of patriotism and the home of the highest ideal in education. From these doors boys and girls shall go forth trained in true knowledge and in sanctity, prepared to take their places as good citizens."

After the outdoor services the congregation passed into the church, where the vespers were concluded with benediction of the blessed sacrament. After the services Rev. Raphael Fuhr, O.F.M., rector of St. Joseph's parish, entertained the visiting clergymen and the bishop with a dinner served in the basement of the church.

The structure whose corner-stone was laid yesterday has its walls well up toward the second story, the corner where the stone was placed was left open for this event. The building will be three stories, with a seventy-six foot frontage on Los Angeles street and extending back on the lot 165 feet. A wing will extend across the rear of this, which will be 120 feet in length. The structure will cost about $60,000.

To Paint Morgan as He Is. Those who know J. Pierpont Morgan well are wondering what he will say and do when he views his portrait after J. J. Shannon gets through painting it. Shannon throughout his artistic career has been wholly frank—some would say brutal—in his fidelity to nature. Though Mr. Morgan has had his portrait painted twice by a New York artist, one picture being for his son, the other for his daughter, Mrs. Satterlee, he did not "sit" for these pictures in the usual way. The most the painter could do was to get permission to study the banker in his office. Then sketches in pencil were made. One of the portraits was shown in public and looked less like Mr. Morgan than the average newspaper "cut" does. The artist, who is a society painter pure and simple, did not have the courage to represent the banker as he really is. But now it is reported that Mr. Morgan is actually to "sit" for his portrait to Shannon, who is an American and is second in popularity only to Sargent in London. The forgerne holder saw Morgan looking at Shannon's work in a local gallery last spring in company with Commodore Lyday and the banker seemed much impressed with the merit of the work. Does a Snake Eat Grass? I want you to submit a question and settle a controversy for me. Is a snake a vegetarian? Does he eat fruits, herbs, roots, and the like? Some say that he eats nothing but birds, insects and so forth.

The observer takes great pleasure in raising the question, and here is hoping that someone who knows will answer promptly.

COOKING WITH GAS. When it comes to heating a room, the cost for gas amounts to something; still it's the cheapest of fuels where so little is wanted.

Hundreds of people were attracted to St. Joseph's Church yesterday afternoon for the ceremony of laying the corner-stone for the new St. Joseph's School. Many of the parishes of the city were represented and there were present numerous priests from the city and vicinity, and members of the various Catholic sisterhoods laboring in Los Angeles.

The ceremonies began with a procession from the Franciscan Monastery on Twelfth street to the school site on Los Angeles street, just south of St. Joseph's Church. The procession was headed by the members of the St. Raphael's Society, and the choir of the church.

The children formed in line on either side of the walk, and between them passed the procession of twenty altar boys, priests, and the bishop, attended by Mr. P. Harnett, V. G., and Rev. Father O'Keefe, O.F.M.

The choral society marched, singing hymns, and the entire procession made the rounds of the interior walls of the building, and then gathered at the southwest corner, where the corner-stone was laid. Bishop Conaty used a beautiful silver trowel, and within a block of carved granite was placed a box containing church and local publications, coins and other mementoes.

The full ritualistic service of the church was used, and at its close Bishop Conaty spoke on "Christian Education." "It is sometimes asked why we build these schools," said Bishop Conaty. "The only answer is that while the secular schools are doing a magnificent work along their own lines, they are not doing all that we would have done for our children in order that their education may be full and complete. Therefore we make these sacrifices to establish these schools."

"This building stands for both the intellectual and spiritual development of the children—the Christian education for which the Christian parents must feel it their duty to provide."

"This is an age of education, an age of the schoolhouse and the school-supply and the lawns and gardens. We would give our children the fullest education, the greatest opportunity to grasp this knowledge, and in this we would include instruction in the faith of our most holy religion. Above all things we want our children to be Christian men and women. Daily, step by step, with the absorption of other knowledge, we would have them receive instruction in religion, would have their characters permeated and filled with the Spirit of God."

"Morality is necessary to our daily and our public life, a morality that will stand the test of right and wrong; and thus must have as its background true religion, a religion which tells man his duty to his fellow-man and his God."

"After all, what is education but the training for life and the fulfillment in the highest manner of life's duties and the destinies which are provided for the individual? Christian education gives men and women a strength of character which compels them to do their duty to their fellow-men, and this school is but a link in the great chain of Christian education, reaching down from the work of Mary Magdalene, and continuing until the last Mary has fulfilled her duties. This school is to be the home of religion and the home of patriotism and the home of the highest ideal in education. From these doors boys and girls shall go forth trained in true knowledge and in sanctity, prepared to take their places as good citizens."

After the outdoor services the congregation passed into the church, where the vespers were concluded with benediction of the blessed sacrament. After the services Rev. Raphael Fuhr, O.F.M., rector of St. Joseph's parish, entertained the visiting clergymen and the bishop with a dinner served in the basement of the church.

The structure whose corner-stone was laid yesterday has its walls well up toward the second story, the corner where the stone was placed was left open for this event. The building will be three stories, with a seventy-six foot frontage on Los Angeles street and extending back on the lot 165 feet. A wing will extend across the rear of this, which will be 120 feet in length. The structure will cost about $60,000.

To Paint Morgan as He Is. Those who know J. Pierpont Morgan well are wondering what he will say and do when he views his portrait after J. J. Shannon gets through painting it. Shannon throughout his artistic career has been wholly frank—some would say brutal—in his fidelity to nature. Though Mr. Morgan has had his portrait painted twice by a New York artist, one picture being for his son, the other for his daughter, Mrs. Satterlee, he did not "sit" for these pictures in the usual way. The most the painter could do was to get permission to study the banker in his office. Then sketches in pencil were made. One of the portraits was shown in public and looked less like Mr. Morgan than the average newspaper "cut" does. The artist, who is a society painter pure and simple, did not have the courage to represent the banker as he really is. But now it is reported that Mr. Morgan is actually to "sit" for his portrait to Shannon, who is an American and is second in popularity only to Sargent in London. The forgerne holder saw Morgan looking at Shannon's work in a local gallery last spring in company with Commodore Lyday and the banker seemed much impressed with the merit of the work. Brave Officer Saves a Life.

MADRID. Office of The Times, No. 10 South Broadway, July 9.—Police Officer J. O. Reynolds proved himself a hero when yesterday he rescued a runaway horse at the corner of Colorado street and Fair Oaks avenue, and in so doing saved a little girl's life.

New Species of "Blind Pig."

LONG BEACH. July 9.—Marshall J. Conklin got busy today, and a new species of the "blind-pig" contingent, and thirty individuals this afternoon went to the beach for the porkers all went to cover, and all along the beach from Seaside Park to Alamitos Bay, men have looked in vain for the "angel" with the valise and teapot, for the said "angel," Hazle Seybert, is in jail, and his supplies occupy one corner of the City Marshal's office. Several days ago Marshall Conklin got a tip that regular shipments of boxes and barrels were arriving, and being transferred to what is known as Seybert's barn, between Sixth and Seventh, and American and Elm streets, just back of the Pacific Electric car barn. Watch has been kept on the place ever since, but no one was seen about, except young Seybert, who was making occasional trips with a valise, and it became evident that Seybert was simply bootlegging, and that the barn was but a supply house, and he would fill his valise with booze, and carrying it up and down the beach, and in the rear of a pool-room in town, peddle it out to the thirsty. Occasionally he would carry this by putting a teapot filled with whiskey in the valise and peddle it out at so much per glass. He was shadowed until his guilt was fully established, and then the Marshal got his forces ready for a raid. Last night was fixed for the attempt, but Seybert, alarmed and lay quiet. This morning, aware of the thirty mortals awaiting his coming, he loaded up and went down the beach, distributing joy and gladness. Returning to the barn for a second load, he was nabbed, and his stock confiscated. It consists of fifty quart bottles of beer, six one-half pint flasks of whiskey, two demijohns, forty-five empty flasks, ten empty beer bottles and glasses, six corkscrews, spigot and air valve, besides two shipping boxes.

Church of Our Lady Star of the Sea.

Thompson, Charlie Cheeseman, Hancock Banning, Wm. A. Allen. WASN'T A TUNA. The launch "Chantrelle" came into the bay this morning flying the tuna flag, and thereby created a ripple of excitement. The fish was weighed by an official Tuna Club weigher, and it was announced as a record fish, the smallest ever caught in the bay, weighing only fourteen pounds. But when hung up suspicious lines were seen on its body, which marked it a skip-lark, but pronounced by the local taxidermist as the largest of its species ever seen here—and a sure-thing record fish.

COMING CONVENTIONS.

Coming events cast their shadows before, and the Long Beach Chautauqua, which opens at the Tabernacle Monday afternoon, marks the beginning of a two months' series of religious gatherings representing all of Southern California. Chautauqua, which is undenominational in character, begins Monday, and continues until the 22d inst.

OCEAN PARK.

HAD TO BE RESTRAINED. OCEAN PARK, July 9.—Last night a young Jewess, Miss Goodman, was in a room on Navy street, became melancholy and in a state of mental aberration, caused her Rose avenue neighbor such uneasiness that they sought the interference of an officer. The unfortunate woman would walk the floor for hours, and when on the street would talk to herself. She is a member of the Venice Brotherhood, and has a brother at Ventura. He was communicated with, and at his instance Policeman Higgs took charge of her and accompanied by another woman, went to Los Angeles. There he applied to the Police Station, but found that no accommodations for insane persons were to be had there. After nearly an hour's delay the County Hospital authorities were appealed to, and they consented to receive the unfortunate woman. A doctor, who had been called and while the party was waiting for it Higgs found it necessary to send a detective woman to prevent her from running away. Several men from the street saw him and two of them tried to rescue the woman from his hands, but he refused to let them, and of his intentions. The Fellowship will send for Miss Goodman tomorrow and endeavor to restore her mind by proper care and complete rest.

Bank Stock for Sale.

AT ONLY $5 PER SHARE. Plan to Secure 1000 Stockholders. No One Allowed to Purchase More Than $500 of Stock. The people of Los Angeles can now buy bank stock at only $5 per share. No one will be allowed to purchase more than $500 of stock. Capital is to be increased to $500,000, making bank of a thousand small stockholders, thereby becoming the people's bank of Los Angeles. The Consolidated Bank of Los Angeles has decided to place its stock with the people, believing that in securing a thousand stockholders it will secure a thousand depositors at the same time. Investors can purchase such stock with absolute safety as to perfect security, and realize a handsome profit therefrom, as has been done by the owners of stock in the various other banks of Los Angeles. This is the only opportunity ever offered the general public to buy stock in Los Angeles bank at $5 per share. We would rather have 5000 stockholders of $100 each than 1000 of $500 each. We want the greatest number of stockholders, as the more stockholders there are the stronger the bank. All stock fully paid up at Five Dollars per share. Purchasers can buy from 1 to 100 shares at $5 per share, but no one can buy more than $500 of stock. Subscription books just opened. Purchasers can subscribe for 100 shares and pay the same in weekly payments of Five Dollars, and receive one share of paid-up stock as each $5 payment is made. We want the people to become the stockholders in the people's bank of Los Angeles. Officers: William H. Carlson (Ex-Mayor of the City of San Diego) President; J. G. Estadillo (Ex-State Treasurer of California), First Vice-President; F. H. Dixon (Ex-State Harbor Commissioner of California), Second Vice-President; A. W. Carver, Cashier. ## BREVITIES.

The volume of "Liners" in the Sunday Times has become so great that it is found necessary to ask patrons to get their Sunday advertisements in earlier, especially Sunday real estate advertisements, which in order to be printed must be in the office not later than 10 o'clock Saturday night. The printing of all real estate matter, including advertisements, in a part by itself on Sunday involves somewhat slower press work, making it essential in order to get the paper out on time, to stop receiving real estate ads at 10 o'clock Saturday night. Deeds will confer a favor on The Times office if they will turn in Sunday copy on Friday, when possible; or at least a part of it, and the balance on Saturday. Sunday "Want" ads will still be received by phone and over the counter until 11 o'clock Saturday night.

The ladies' rest room on the top floor of the new wing of The Times Building is open daily from 9 to 5. Ladies from town or country will find this a convenient place to wait for mail. Stationery provided for correspondence. Both phones available. Take elevator in business office. All are welcome.

LONGEST TOUR AROUND WORLD.

CHARLES J. GLIDDEN RETURNS FROM EXTENSIVE TRIP.

All Told, He Covered Over Thirty Thousand Miles, and Visited Many Countries—Fijians Have Appropriate Name for Automobile—Feasted by Oriental Potentates.

After going around the world in his automobile, Charles J. Glidden of Boston is back in New York, having experienced some great motor-car traveling in foreign lands. There is nothing more to his story. Glidden traveled 38,000 miles by motor car and about 22,000 miles by steamer. His highest day's run was about one hundred and fifty miles. Both he and Mrs. Glidden, who made the journey, enjoyed excellent health on the entire trip.

"I hurried some during the past month so as to arrive in time for the two weeks' tour of the A. A. to the White Mountains for the Glidden trophy. I think touring is one of the greatest enjoyments known, especially in a motor car. There is nothing more delightful than viewing the wonders of different lands in an automobile, but I am glad to get back to American civilization," said Mr. Glidden, with his wife coinciding. "We have been associating for so long with the natives of the Fiji Islands and the natives of Java and Malay Peninsula that it was a real treat to get home."

"Some pretty hard names have been given to automobiles," continued Mr. Glidden, "but the natives of Fiji, who are only one generation removed from cannibalism, derived a name for my machine which is fully as good as those originated by some civilized individuals. They styled it the 'Father of All Devils.' As it was the first automobile that ever entered the Fiji Islands, I don't blame them. When they saw that it did not scatter death and ruin in its wake, they called it the 'name a little' and called it the 'Boat on the Road.'"

"It was sometimes with difficulty that I drove the car, the natives crowded around us in such numbers, clamoring for a ride. If I had gone into the rapid transit business, I might have paid my expenses, but they offered me an English shilling for a ride."

"The King of Fiji and the Princess, his sister, could not understand what made the car. I gave them a ride and the King wanted to see if I could get quite as adept at pronouncing his name, but it was a hard task at first. His first subjects call him Ratu Penikakavu Levu Roko Tuiavea. His costume was a queer mixture of European and native style. He wore a coat and a waistcoat; round his hips was a round colored piece of cloth, and his legs were bare. The Princess wore a loose silk garment reaching to her ankles."

Mr. and Mrs. Glidden went from the Fiji Islands to New Zealand. When six hundred miles from land the steamer caught fire in the hold, and there was excitement among the passengers until the fire was got under control. Auckland Glidden had to pay $800 deputation to take his automobile into New Zealand.

"It is the largest sum I ever paid to take my car into a foreign country," said he, "but all except $15 was refunded me when I left. I toured 11,000 miles in New Zealand. Crossing rivers gave the most trouble. There are few bridges, and the water at some of the rivers was so high that it covered the wheels. In the south island of New Zealand is a fine road known as Ward's Parade. It is the most southerly road in the world, and I drove to its end, getting as near to the Antarctic circle as it is possible to reach."

"We then crossed by steamer to Tasmania, where the roads are fine. They are made by the natives, but a lot of small stones put together like mosaic, with a top dressing of soil. When we got to Australia we found a marked contrast. Half of our four or five 2,000 miles was over some of the poorest roads in the world."

"Then we went to Java, the most wonderful country for travel. Its roads, people, volcanoes, hotels, rooms and scenery are all interesting. We stopped under a tree one day and I saw some money. I play. They evidently did not take kindly to the motor car, for they pelted us with coconuts."

"The Sultan of Java took a ride, but he was not so courageous as the Fiji King, and only allowed me to go for miles an hour. His body guard preceded the car and a big force of retainers brought up the rear."

"Our next touring place was the Malay Peninsula. There we had another festive time; the Sultan of Johore entertained our host. He gave us a luncheon, and everything was served on gold dishes. Talk about the effect of civilization on our own country! We can't equal some of those eastern Princes yet."

"Singapore saw the end of our automobile trip. I went from there direct to London. I expect to resume the trip by November and will tour India and Egypt."

"Bob" Burdette's Weekly Letters.

The Times is publishing each Sunday a letter written by the famous "Bob" while he is on his European tour. Judging by the installments already printed, they promise to be as interesting, loaded with his old-time humor, and well worth reading.

It is hardly evincing the proper spirit of justice to hang a man without a proper trial, and this is just exactly what a boycott is—punishment before a trial.—J.A.V.
